Traveling With Pets

With summer fast approaching, many of you may be planning an out-of-town vacation. If those plans include taking your pet along with you, here are some Web sites with useful information about traveling with pets.

Among the interesting information on this site is a Search By Route feature. You enter your point of origin, your destination, and options like how far off your route you are willing to travel, and it produces a map and listing of the pet-friendly lodging along your route.

Includes a list of suggestions for traveling with pets submitted by real people (many of whom seem to have Web sites on related subjects), plus a list of books with lodging, health care, etc. information when travelling with pets. You can submit your suggestions too.
